When it comes to General Contractors, we've hired the GENERAL of contractors

Bremik Construction is built upon the founding principles of integrity and quality. We are defined by the ethos of craftsmanship, teamwork and sustainability. Clients recognize our firm as a team of dedicated and experienced professionals providing negotiated general contractor services throughout Oregon and SW Washington.

The company was founded by Brent Parry and Mike Greenslade in June 2004 after working together at P&C Construction Company for 14 years, where Brent held the position of Vice President/ Partner and Mike of Senior Project Superintendent. While there, they managed some of the firms most challenging and notable projects.

Today, Bremik's clients benefit from a management team methodically built by recruiting some of the most talented professionals in our industry from firms who share similar philosophies of constructing projects on a negotiated basis. Bremik's effective management principles are a direct result of combining the best practices of our industry, developed by professionals who helped build well respected firms. These practices have been honed to form the management principles and methodology of Bremik Construction.

Bremik Construction is committed to continuous improvement to provide our clients with outstanding construction services and quality. While we are very good at what we do, our mission is to become the most respected commercial general contractor in Oregon.
